PREFACE

This year, 1971, Bibliotheca Sacra has been in existence for 129 years and has been published quarterly by Dallas Theological Seminary since 1934. It has the unique distinction of being the oldest theological quarterly in continuous publication in America. Over the years it has published articles by prominent theologians and expositors of the Scriptures. This work is an index of the years 1934-1970.

Grateful acknowledgment is given to the Department of Library Science, East Texas State University to whom this work was presented as a Master of Arts thesis. It has been revised and presented in this form with their kind permission. Special appreciation is expressed to Dr. Dorothy B. Lilley, chairman of the Department of Library Science, under whose personal guidance the study was pursued and to the other members of the advisory committee, Dr. William C. Highfill, Dr. John E. Burke and Mr. Donald R. Kerr. Special gratitude is extended to Dr. John A. Witmer, director of Mosher Library, Dallas Theological Seminary for many valuable suggestions in the production of the work; Margaret Fuller for typing the manuscript; Carolyn Hannah, Connie Clark and Mary Jane Reynolds for help in typing, filing and proof reading; and to my wife for help in proof reading the final draft.

Back issues of Bibliotheca Sacra may be ordered from the subscription office of Bibliotheca Sacra, 3909 Swiss Avenue, Dallas, Texas 75204. Volumes which are no longer in print may be secured at $30.00 per year from Johnson Reprint Corporation, 111 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York 10003.

Libraries and other subscribers to Bibliotheca Sacra may purchase the journal on microfilm beginning with the January-March, 1953 issue from University Microfilms. Also, xeroxed articles beginning with January 1953 may be obtained at the rate of $2.00 for one copy of a complete article, including postage, with additional copies of the same article costing 50¢ each. An order with full remittance should be sent to University Microfilms, 300 North Zeeb Road, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48106.

Xeroxed articles prior to January 1953 may be secured from the Bibliotheca Sacra office in Dallas at the rate of $2.00 for one copy of a complete article, including postage, with additional copies of the same article costing 50¢ each. Full remittance must accompany order.

PROCEDURES FOR USING THE INDEX

While all the articles have been indexed, editorials and book reviews have been omitted. The index is divided into two parts, the subject index, and the author index. All entries are arranged according to ALA Rules for Filing Catalog Cards[1] or alternative options stated therein.

SUBJECT INDEX

Subject headings were mostly drawn from the Subject Headings Used in the Dictionary Catalogs of the Library of Congress.[2] However, there were cases when the listing had no appropriate headings or subheadings for in-depth indexing of theological articles. Therefore, new headings and/or subheadings were selected and after consulting with the adept theologian and director of Mosher Library, Dallas Theological Seminary, John A. Witmer, as to the appropriateness of each of them, the necessary headings were accordingly added to the Library of Congress listing.

Although Library of Congress subject heading terminology in the main part is used by conservative theologians, in cases where there was conflict between Library of Congress subject headings and the terminology commonly used by conservative theologians, Library of Congress headings were chosen. For example, CLERGY is used instead of MINISTERS, DIVINITY in place of DEITY, ANTIQUITIES instead of ARCHEOLOGY and RELIGIOUS EDUCATION in place of CHRISTIAN EDUCATION.

For each article as many headings were selected as the best judgment of the indexer deemed necessary for directing users to the subjects discussed. Thus, the article "The Church in Heaven" by John F. Walvoord is found under the following three subjects: BIBLE. N.T. 2 CORINTHIANS 5:8-10, JESUS CHRIST--MYSTICAL BODY, and JUDGMENT SEAT OF CHRIST.

The subject index arranges all of the topics treated and persons referred to alphabetically. Attention should be called to the arrangement of subheadings under BIBLE. The subdivisions of the Bible as a whole come before the parts of the Bible. Thus, BIBLE--THEOLOGY precedes BIBLE. O.T.--ANTIQUITIES. The books of the Bible are arranged in canonical order.[3] Therefore, BIBLE. O.T. GENESIS comes before BIBLE. O.T. DANIEL and BIBLE. N.T. MATTHEW precedes BIBLE. N.T. ACTS.

Since specific subject headings were used, cross references are inserted to direct the user to the proper subject heading. An attempt is made to bring together all articles dealing comprehensively with the subject represented by the heading. Realizing other theological terms may be known and used by some reader of the index, it was necessary to provide direction from the terms he might look under to the one chosen. This type of reference is known as a "see" reference, e.g., CHRISTIAN EDUCATION see RELIGIOUS EDUCATION and JESUS CHRIST--HYPOSTATIC UNION see HYPOSTATIC UNION.

In order to bring related materials together in the index "see also" references have been provided. The basic principles set forth by David Judson Haykin in his book Subject Headings: a Practical Guide, served as guidelines which he states as:

> . . . the basic rule is that a 'see also' reference be made from a given subject; 1) to more specific subjects or topics comprehended within it, or to an application of the subject; and 2) to coordinate subjects which suggest themselves as likely to be of interest to the user seeking material under the given heading, because they represent other aspects of the subject, or are closely related to it.[4]

Basically, the "see also" references were taken directly from the Library of Congress Subject Heading listing, thus there was no major problem in selecting the necessary references.

Scope notes are quoted directly from the Library of Congress subject heading listing. They are given "to ensure consistency of subject usage by specifying the range of subject matter to which a heading is applied . . . or by stating which of several meanings of a term is the one to which its use . . . is limited."[5]

AUTHOR INDEX

All authors represented in the thirty-seven vlumes indexed are listed alphabetically. One special observation should be noted in using this index. Names beginning with MC are treated as if they were spelled MAC and are listed alphabetically. For example, McGee is listed between McClain and Mackenzie.

EXPLANATION OF CITATION

Two items in the citation need to be clarified. First, the capitalization within the title is according to the United States Government Printing Office Style Manual[6] and the Anglo-American Cataloging Rules.[7]

Second, the citation 123:99-103, 1966 gives the location of the article in volume 123 for the year 1966 on pages 99-103. Since Bibliotheca Sacra is the only journal indexed, reference to the name of the journal is omitted in the citation.
